

Case Report: Case report is a detailed report of the diagnosis, treatment, and follow-up of an individual patient and contains: 1) Extremely rare cases; 2) any other clinical observation based upon well-documented cases that provide important new information. Organize the manuscript into the following structure:

A) A nonstructural abstract and keywords (up to 200 words); B) text, including introduction, case report, discussion; C) references (up to 20 references); D) Figures (up to 4 figures).